Paul Rodriguez Spoke at Columbia Law School on March 27, 2014

03.28.14

Simpson Thacher corporate associate Paul Rodriguez spoke at Columbia Law School on March 27, 2014. Paul was a panelist alongside law professors and an entrepreneur discussing the role of the lawyer in representing social entrepreneurs, the legal needs of those entrepreneurs, current trends and recent changes in the law and how law students can incorporate social enterprise into their legal careers. The panel was organized by Columbia Law School's Law Students for Social Enterprise.
