07.25.19

The National Law Journal profiled Corporate Partner David Greene as a 2019 DC Rising Star. Among the many transactions he was involved in over the past year, David was recognized for his work as a leader of the Simpson Thacher team that represented Carlyle in the closing of the $18.5 billion Carlyle Partners VII fund, the largest private equity fund raised in 2018. In his profile, David discusses the importance of mentors and the most valuable lessons he learned as a first year associate. Sharing what he believes is the key to success, David says: “I believe lawyers, or professionals in any service business, need networks within their firms and industry to succeed. I have been fortunate to practice with wonderful colleagues and friends who have supported me throughout my career. These relationships are a key to my success and have made the journey much more rewarding.”
