Law360 Profiles Simpson Thacher as a Technology Practice Group of the Year

03.08.23

Simpson Thacher was named a Technology Practice Group of the Year for 2022 by Law360. The Firm was recognized for “another phenomenal year,” including advising more than 80 technology mergers and acquisitions deals valued at more than $415 billion, including the three largest M&A deals in the U.S. which were all in the technology industry, as well as playing a leading role on numerous litigations in the technology sector.

Corporate Partner Atif Azher noted that the Firm’s culture of collegiality is a key to its success, explaining, “We work well in teams across practice areas and that translates, from a client's perspective, into a seamless and efficient approach. Also, there's our global reach. We're able to marshal teams across continents.” Litigation Partner Abram Ellis additionally highlighted the Technology team's “familiarity with the tech space and our ability to take complicated technology concepts and explain them in very simple terms.”
