Preston Miller focuses on antitrust and competition law. With a particular emphasis on merger review, he has extensive experience obtaining regulatory clearances from domestic and international competition authorities for high-profile, often cross-border, transactions across a wide variety of industries. He is recognized by The Legal 500 U.S. in Antitrust: Merger Control, where sources describe him as “such a strong lawyer that partners from other firms routinely acknowledge the benefits of having him on the other side as someone who will be efficient, practical, friendly and able to lead a very strong case.” Preston also has experience in defending clients in complex class action antitrust litigation and government antitrust
